Thursday, 26 October 2023 — The 32nd edition of 080 Barcelona Fashion, organised by the Generalitat de Catalunya (Regional Government of Catalonia), has begun its third day of fashion shows with proposals by the labels COMO LA TRUCHA AL TRUCHO STUDIO, LEMĀCHET, ALL THAT SHE LOVES, NATHALIE CHANDLER, OUTSIDERS DIVISION, AMLUL and DOMINNICO at the Recinte Modernista de Sant Pau.

COMO LA TRUCHA AL TRUCHO STUDIO was first on the catwalk for the third day of Catalan fashion week. The label, created in 2014 by Canary Islanders Amanda and Adonais, presented the collection “Uhlalá Resort” inspired by Palm Springs. The designers offered an insight into California and its retro look.

Next LEMĀCHET, the label headed by Lucía Sánchez, a designer born in Almonte (Huelva), presented “I am, but”, a collection based on the search for situations that encourage creativity. Based on the “SAMO” (the same old shit) concept, Lemāchet proposed a reinterpretation of the concepts of traditional tailoring, with new cuts, silhouettes and materials to offer an innovative, modern slant to men’s tailoring today.

080 Barcelona Fashion once again also hosted the proposal by ALL THAT SHE LOVES, the project by Catalan designer Clara Esteve, specialising in swimwear & intimates. She presented “The Lighthouse”, a collection inspired by the Costa Brava. The brand concept is based on combining technique and ground-breaking technology with craftsmanship and local production.

The label NATHALIE CHANDLER, created under the name of the Belgian artist and designer, presented “Urban Elves”, the new capsule collection for Autumn 2023 inspired by the elegance, power and femininity of elves in an urban, deconstructed manner.

OUTSIDERS DIVISION was the second to walk down the catwalk. The multi-disciplinary artist David Méndez, the label’s designer, presented “Extraordinario”. The collection reflects the character of the author, in which his hangups and obsessions are observed in the 36 looks shown on the catwalk.

This collection includes designs full of references to popular culture, underground and contemporary art, along with his characteristic “preppy-punk” style.

AMLUL took the catwalk for the second time in an edition of 080 Barcelona Fashion. The label, with a background and a name in the global industry thanks to its founder and creative director Gala González, focuses its values on timelessness, Made In Spain, and a limited-edition ethical production.

Through the new collection “The Secret Garden”, it presented versatile designs that celebrate the beauty of being a woman. Peonies, lilies, bougainvilleas or lavender, full of colours and endless shades.

DOMINNICO was responsible for ending the day. The firm, characterised by the premise of slow fashion, and the diversity, innovation and sustainability of its processes, presented “SWEETDOM SPRING 2024”.

The collection is inspired by the influences of Japanese culture and urban tribes, such as Gyarū and the Sweet Lolitas. Approaching its creative universe from a diverse, free viewpoint, in which different trends such as steam punk, the metaverse, craftsmanship and upcycling coexist with the digital era, the kawaii look and sweet shades mark the very identity of the label.

This marks the end of the third day of 080 Barcelona Fashion, which will tomorrow host the last group of proposals for the 32nd edition.
